W. S. McCARTNEY, druggist, Selma, Cal., says: Tongalins, as a remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia and nervous headache, is giving the desired results.

The tenacity with which people abide by their own faith in Ayer's Sarsaparilla is explained by the fact that it is the best blood medicine ever used, and is not equaled in excellence by any new candidate for public favor.

The marriage of Elmer G. Bridges, a member of Hunt's Reed and Cornet Band, and Miss Lizzie Berger, eldest daughter of Nicholas Berger, was solemnized last evening by Rev. D. A. Beardsley, at his residence on Sutton Street.

We have heard of several persons whose eyes were so far improved by using the Diamond spectacles for a few weeks, as to make their further use unnecessary. These celebrated glasses are for sale by Ballenger, the jeweler.

The first quarterly meeting for the new conference year of the Southern Methodist Church in this city will be held tomorrow and the day following. Preaching at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. each day by the Presiding Elder, Rev. J. R. Peeples.

When symptoms of malaria appear in any form, take Ayer's Agree Cure at once to prevent the development of the disease, and continue until health is restored, as it surely will be by the use of this remedy. A cure is warranted in every instance.

The Manchester fair this year was a grand success. The exhibition of stock was very fine and the floral display was a handsome one. It is the intention of the company to erect an amphitheatre and place the institution among the leading fairs in Southern Ohio.

Mrs. JENNIE CLARKE has returned from Indianapolis and is now ready to give instruction in the different branches of art. Her studio is in the rear of the Christian Church, and will be open every morning from 9 to 12 o'clock; Tuesday and Thursday afternoons from 2 to 5 o'clock.

NEAR Ripley the other day, Charles Dinger and Jesse Sear, watchmen on a rock boat, discovered the body of a drowned man floating in the river. Letters and other papers found in his pockets identify him as Charles Wellerham, of Belle Vernon, Fayette County, Pa. The body bore marks of violence and had not been in the water very long.

The commissioners, heretofore appointed in the case of the Maysville and Big Sandy Railroad Company, filed the following report this morning in the County Court:

C. F. Fleming, $2,000 land; $300 damages.

Death of Mrs. Amy Armstrong Mannen.
The sad news of the death of Mrs. Amy Armstrong Mannen has been received in this city. Her death occurred in Philadelphia last Wednesday, after a long and painful illness. She was a member of one of Maysville's oldest and most widely known families, being a daughter of the late John Armstrong, and a sister of Baron James Armstrong, who died a year or so ago at Paris France. Two sons, a daughter, a brother and a large number of other relatives survive her. Her remains will be laid at rest tomorrow in Spring Grove Cemetery, at Cincinnati.

Railroad Notes.
About one-half the grading in Bracken County is completed.

Mason, Rosser & Dickey have thirty-five or forty Hungarians and a large number of negroes at work on the road between Dover and Augusta.

The United States Government engineers are at Cincinnati this week locating the Huntington bridge to be constructed across the Ohio at that point.

The large culvert at Beasley Branch (Little Limestone) in the West End lot completed. It is one of the most substantial pieces of masonry ever constructed in this vicinity.

Another barge of stone for the Bracken Creek bridge arrived Sunday. We learn it will take twenty-two barges of stone to build this bridge and only four barges have been received.—Bracken Chronicle.

One of the white convicts at Camp Jordan, below Augusta, escaped the other day and started to swim the river. He was pursued by some of the guards in a skiff and recaptured before the Ohio shore was reached. The fellow has two years yet to serve.

After meeting with many reverses and delays the contractors at work on the big bridge across Limestone now see their way clear, as far as the abutment on the west side is concerned. The foundation is completed, and the work of laying stone was commenced yesterday. A few days' work will place them out of any further danger of delay from high water, unless there should come a big rise in the river.

Proceedings of Lexington Conference.
The sixtieth session of the Kentucky annual conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church convened in Centenary Church, Lexington, yesterday at 9 o'clock a. m. Devotional exercises were conducted by Bishop Cyrus D. Foss, D. D., L. L. D., who read the 3rd chapter of Ephesians and announced hymn 798, beginning with:

"And are we yet alive,
And see each other's face?
Glory and praise to Jesus give
For his redeeming grace.
Preserved by power divine
To full salvation here,
Again in Jesus' praise we join
And in his sight appear."

J. R. Eads led in prayer, followed by Bishop Foss. The sacrament of the Lord's supper was administered to one hundred and five ministers and laymen. When the roll was called fifty-seven responded to their names.

J. D. Walsh was elected Secretary, with G. F. Pollard, assistant; T. Hanford, Recording Secretary; A. Boring, Financial Secretary; H. W. Bailey, assistant Financial Secretary; J. S. Easton, Statistical Secretary; J. S. Marriott, G. W. Howes, C. H. Williamson, (assistants). The hour of meeting was fixed at 8:30 a. m. the first half hour for devotional services, and adjournment 12 m.

The following ministerial visitors were introduced: T. C. Carter, Holston conference; Rutherford Douglas, Presbyterian Church, Lexington; H. W. White, P. E. Lexington district, Lexington conference; A. H. Gillett, D. D., agent Sunday School Union; John R. Deering, pastor M. E. Church, South, Lexington. After announcements, doxology and benediction, conference adjourned.

Fall Fashions.

Venetian beads in great variety are coming in loads.

Black silk stockings are very stylish with red shoes.

In Paris most of the bonnets are worn without strings.

Colored bows to match the stockings are worn on slippers.

The moonstone grows in favor for brooches and hairpins.

Short plumes tipped with pearls are revived for millinery purposes.

White feathers and white pompons are shown in the greatest abundance.

Laced hosiery with patent leather tops are still the stylish wear for ladies.

Austrian plumes and tips are the leading garniture of imported bonnets and hats.

Mohair braids with applique figures of silk and bead edges are novelties for trimming.

Removable hoods, fastened with silk cord, are worn with tailor-made dresses in the street.

Jet trimmings are richer than ever. Beads cut en cabochon are novelties and are very large.

Wit and Humor.

Church choir singers ought to spend the summer at Yeller's tone Park.

"There's something suitable," said the tailor as he unrolled a bolt of cloth.

Any one who is quick at repartee must necessarily have a great response-ability.

A New York undertaker was "bitterly mad" at having his portrait called "a just mug."

Lawyers dress pretty well, notwithstanding the fact that they occasionally lose a suit.

The best solution of the mother-in-law problem is to marry an orphan. You are not often disappointed.

"Twice at the tailor's convention where the delegates arose and said that what the country wanted was measures and not men."

"How would you like to have your hair cut?" asked the barber. "With the scissors," replied the customer, and silence fell on the place with a dull thud.

When doctors give a man up his chance for life is gone. When lawyers give one up his money is gone.

Good Results in Every Case.
D. A. Bradford, wholesale paper dealer of Chattanooga, Tenn., writes that he was seriously afflicted with a severe cold that settled on his lungs; had tried many remedies without benefit. Being induced to try King's New Discovery for Consumption, did so and was entirely cured by use of a few bottles. Since which time he has used it in his family for all coughs and colds with best results. This is the experience of thousands whose lives have been saved by this Wonderful Discovery. Trial bottle free at the drug stores of J. C. PEOR & CO., and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

An End to Bone Scraping.
Edward Shepherd, of Harrisburg, Ill., says: "Having received a number of letters from Electric Bitters, I feel it my duty to let suffering humanity know it. I have had a running sore on my leg for eight years; my doctors told me I would have to have the bone scraped or leg amputated. I used, instead, three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes Bucken's Arnica Salve, and my leg is now sound and well."

Electric Bitters are sold at fifty cents a bottle, and Bucken's Arnica Salve at 25c per box. J. C. PEOR & CO. and S. P. Campbell & Co., of Aberdeen Ohio.

THE OTHER FACE OF NIGHT.

I borrowed, slept, and this my dream:
I looked out and saw the gleam
Right in the east, above the bar
Of morning mist—a morning star.
Full moon, the moon, the moon, the moon,
Throbbing in silent stream and wood.
"Behold!" I cried, "That watcher bright,
Who trims the lamp of Judgment night,
Hath on a stolen errand gone,
To do the service of the Dawn."
Then spake a voice, serene in air,
"Thou art new come, or yet art here,
How the calm heavens of the dead
Above thee and around are spread.
So marvel not that thou shalt see
Doth in the van of Dawn appear.
But from the bow that watcher bright,
Be thou not, and watcher bright,
The star of eve to sorrowing moon.
In morning it is in the dawn,
Thou seest the other face of Night,
And planets flushed with orient light."

I dreamed, and woke, and did rejoice,
So drowsed I in the moonlight

THE BUCKEYE PANORAMA BUSINESS.

A Place Where Big Paintings are Manufactured for Exhibition—Big Scheme.
Chicago is the center of the panorama business in America. At Chicago a business is more extensive than most people imagine it to be. There are several panorama factories in the city near by. One of these stands near the Rock Island railway tracks in Englewood—a monster turret of wood, whose doors are closed to all visitors except those for whom the proprietor, Dr. Pierpont. In this turret-like house painters are always at work upon panoramas—not creations, but copies of works already known to fame. Getting along the favorite, and it is estimated that there are now in existence something like two dozen copies of this famous panorama. The copies are known to the trade as "buckeyes," though the origin of the term in this application is as yet a mystery. These "buckeyes" cost all the way from $2,000 to $20,000 apiece, and some of them are the copies of the original. They are sold to enterprising chaps in large cities throughout the country, and exhibited usually in cheap, wooden buildings. Some of them have made fortunes for their owners in a few years.

The cheaper paintings are carried about the country by railway cars, being wound up for shipment on a big spool, and exhibited in tents. Some of the first "buckeyes" manufactured were turned out by house and sign painters, and carry false ideas of them, too. In addition to their ignorance of perspective and coloring they only knew how to paint for wood surfaces, and some of the canvases which their clumsy brushes daubed, and which have been carried around the country until they were weary, cracked and weathered, do not much resemble the original Getty's.

A queer feature of the business is that the painters of these "buckeyes" pay the proprietors of the original paintings the privilege of copying. Photographs are on sale of all sections of the Getty's panorama, the exception being made of the wheat field. The copyers buy these photographs, slyly take notes as to the coloring while present to look at the canvas, and in the same manner make hasty and crude sketches of the wheat field.

It is said that there is a scheme on foot to procure $10,000 copies of Getty's, Shiloh, Mission Ridge, Siege of Paris and Atlanta. The new picture being painted in Wehner's studio, Milwaukee, and combining them all under one canvas—only one admission ticket to the five grandest panoramas on earth—"go on the road in true circus style. Surely, this is a great work for schemes—Chicago Herald.

Paralyzing the Cats.
Excise Commissioner Morris of the old board lives on West Twenty-first street. Four years ago cats drove people from their homes in this street by their midnight howl. Commissioner Morris once posted a notice to his house, and he is an amateur electrician. He put a wire board on top of the back fence to better facilitate cat locomotion. He then ran six telegraph wires along the top of this board, a very little distance apart. He connected these wires with the strong battery in the house, and a key, which any reach, connected the battery with the wires on the fence.

With darkness the cats came. When a few vigorous notes were indicated, a prominently loud concert, Wetmore touched the key. One long, loud yell followed. Four cats were seen several feet above the fence jumping thr and down in the yard, and were quite paralyzed. One of they got up, smelted of their paws, murmured a mew, and quietly stole away. This was kept up for several nights, until every cat in the block had tasted lightning.

Now, whenever a cat finds it necessary to cross the dangerous path, he first puts a paw gently upon the wire, and crosses very slowly, with every muscle wound up for a spring to the ground at the first suspicion of shock.—New York Star.

Curious Illusion of the Vision.
M. de Farnelle has called the attention of the French Academy of Sciences to a curious illusion of the vision, which may account for the apparent oscillation or swinging of stars sometimes observed, and which is called by the Germans Sternschanken. When the eye looks for some time at a small, feebly lighted body, itself being in complete darkness, the body appears to oscillate or describe certain curves. It is a phenomenon of the subjective order, and appears to be of the same nature as the movement of a star observed when a person stands in a wall and fixes his eyes upon the star. The star appears to be agitated in its place and to oscillate rapidly. In order that the motion may be noticed, there should be no moon and the sky should be clear. A lunette takes away the apparent motion.—New York Mail and Express.

How Barnum Stopped a Fight.
A former resident of Aurora, Ill., tells this little incident illustrative of Barnum's wonderful influence over his employees. It was in the bar-room of the old, Bunton hotel after the close of the evening performance of the "greatest show on earth." Some of the Aurora youths, in a moment of circus attraction had congregated for a good time. They had it. A quarrel arose about nobody knew what. A lively scrimmage ensued between the "circus" and the "town." Confusion reigned and kindling wood became plenty. At this exciting moment the door opened quietly and Barnum stepped in on the little drama.

He gave one quick glance around the room and uttered the one word, "Boys." It was as expressive as any speech. In five minutes not a man connected with the show could be found in the room.—Detroit Free Press.

PHYSICIANS PUZZLED.

THE LIFE-LIKE APPEARANCE OF A DEAD BODY IN NEW YORK.

A Blush Suffused the Cheeks of a Young Lady over a Week After She Has Been Pronounced Dead. A Life-Like Appearance That She Would Be Buried Alive.

New York, Oct. 1.—When relatives and friends took a last view of the remains of Mary Wiseman this afternoon the dead body of the young lady looked as if she were in the bloom of health, and in a quiet, deep sleep. She had lived in Brooklyn, and was employed in a knitting shop in this city. A week ago she came over to the shop as usual, and finding that there was no work for her during the day, started to return home via the bridge. Feeling a sudden illness, she turned aside at Catherine street and went into the home of her aunt, Mrs. Connolly.

A physician was summoned and the young lady went to bed. Her mother came in the evening and found that Mary was improving, but by the advice of the doctor she did not try to go home. Before morning she experienced a slight subsidence in her condition. It had been a life-long terror with her that she should be buried alive, and mindful of this fear, and astounded at her sudden death, the mother endeavored in every way to bring the girl to life. Several physicians worked over the body, doing all that science could suggest, without avail. They declared positively that Mary Wiseman was dead, but the mother was still doubtful. They suggested that the body be kept for the loss for a day or two.

Tuesday evening a messenger taken to Mrs. Wiseman's Brooklyn residence, and she and her family of adult children summoned the best doctors in the city to consult on the case. Judicious measures had been taken, and as no blood flowed the physicians pronounced her dead. Still the mother failed to yield, and proposed to have the body put to bed on ice until after several hours. The undertaker pointed out that mortification had set in. Mrs. Wiseman then seemed to yield, and proposed to have the body put to bed on ice until after several hours. The undertaker pointed out that mortification had set in. Mrs. Wiseman then seemed to yield, and proposed to have the body put to bed on ice until after several hours. The undertaker pointed out that mortification had set in.

When the undertaker came to the house to transfer the body from the ice box the coffin there were present Mrs. Wiseman, her children, Mrs. Connolly, a city official and several neighbors. No sooner had the remains been placed in the casket than those who did the work were startled beyond measure to see a blush suffuse the pale cheeks. Everybody in the house saw it, and Dr. Colgate was hastily summoned. Neither he nor the undertaker could account for the phenomenon, but he was unshaken in the conviction that Mrs. Wiseman was dead. He thought it might be possible that the young lady's blood being impoverished did not coagulate readily, and the contraction of the tissues caused by the ice being suddenly released, and expansion ensuing, arterIALIZATION of some of the blood had occurred. This was merely advanced as a theory and was not to be regarded even as the doctor's opinion. The funeral was delayed until late in the afternoon, when interment took place in Flatbush. Mrs. Wiseman now declares herself convinced that her daughter is dead.

A Sensation in Georgia.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 1.—B. W. Furlong, one of the most prominent and widely known mill men in southwestern Georgia, committed suicide at Atlanta by taking laudanum on Monday. To-day a search resulted in the finding of the body of a negro buried in Furlong's barnyard. An investigation is in progress. A few weeks ago Furlong shot and killed an engineer named Brown, the latter was in his cab on a Brunswick & Western engine. On another occasion he attacked his wife, who was saved from his fury by the timely arrival of a party of friends. To-day's developments created a sensation throughout that part of the state.

Big Consolidation.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 1.—One of the most important consolidations of railroads in America, coke and iron interests ever made in coal has been effected here. It consisted of the Pratt Coal and Iron company, including the Allegheny company and the Allegheny Iron works, of north Alabama, the largest iron and coke making enterprise south of the Ohio river, the South Chattanooga furnaces and the Tennessee Coal, Iron and Railroad company. This consolidated company represents the largest coal and iron property in this country.

A Base Ball Crack.

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 1.—Will Sargent of this city, who until recently was called a "base ball crack." He attended every game played in the country, and frequently visited Detroit to see the league contests. His interest in the game grew until it became a mania, and yesterday he was taken to the Kalamazoo asylum as insane. Since his removal he has apparently forgotten base ball and now worries over the belief that he has three wives, one in Kalamazoo, one in the south and one in Jackson.

Will Not Fight a Duel.

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 1.—Naval Officer F. D. Kernochan and Warehouse Superintendent Marks, who it was thought might fight a duel over remarks made in a congressional convention here, were arrested and released on their own recognizance to keep the peace. The authorities have interfered to prevent a duel in New Orleans, hence is believed the affair is finally ended. There is some talk of the parties leaving the state to fight, but this will probably not be done.

Funeral of Joseph Neal.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 1.—The funeral of Joseph Neal, President of the Cleveland, who died on Monday night last took place today. Rev. A. K. Kelly, of the Methodist Episcopal church, conducted the service at Mr. Neal's late residence. President Cleveland's absence was commented upon. The interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery, in the old family burying lot where Mrs. Cleveland's grandparents are buried.

Passenger Pool Formed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 1.—A dispatch from Chicago, received on Wall street, says: "It is reported that at a meeting of the managers of the passenger department of the Central Traffic association a gross pool was formed on all east-bound trains. The managers were in session and the details of the pool were being arranged."

A Wisconsin Fire.

MANITOWISH, Wis., Oct. 1.—A fire broke out here at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon, and until a down building had been destroyed. The loss and insurance are not yet known.
